SOCIETY EDITOR.

It has been a week of unusual interest and gaiety. The Country Club play on Thursday and Friday evenings and the many affairs in honor of Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall were events that had no parallel on the winter's calendar.

Society was largely represented in both performances of "Seven Days," the opening night Vice-president and Mrs. Marshall occupying a box. As a courtesy to the distinguished guests the orchestra played the national air the entire audience standing during its rendition. There was another feature too, that marked the difference between this and the ordinary theatrical attraction. There was the personal interest in the players, although the baskets of flowers that crossed the footlights expressed appreciation of dramatic ability rather than mere greetings. There is no doubt but that Director Maitland Davies could have looked the production for a longer engagement and played to capacity houses.

The departure of Vice President and Mrs. Marshall for Indiana tomorrow will be greatly regretted for they have taken an active part in recent social affairs. Mrs. Marshall has not only been much feted but on more than one occasion has presided over delightful events at her unpretentious home in Scottsdale and also at the Ingleside Country Club. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Lewis T. Carpenter of North Central avenue gave a reception in her honor and it was with genuine regret that the function was in the nature of a farewell to the charming wife of the presiding officer of the United States Senate. The Carpenter residence is well adapted for entertaining and it was specially attractive with the abundance of palms, roses and sweet-peas used in decoration. Pink was the predominant note, although there was no attempt to carry out a formal color scheme. The Besse orchestra furnished a delightful program. More than a hundred calling during the hours of three until six o'clock. Receiving with Mrs. Carpenter and the guest of honor were Mrs. Henry E. Ashurst, Mrs. Carl Hayden, Mrs. H. M. Fennimore, Mrs. J. W. Morris and Mrs. Fred A. Jones of Dallas, Texas. Presiding at the tea tables were Mrs. Royal Lescher, Mrs. E. T. Collins, Mrs. Julian Holmes and Mrs. John R. Kinnebrew while the punch was served by Miss Salee King and Miss Eva Behn. Others who assisted were Mrs. E. A. Marshall, Miss Mary Leavell, Miss Elizabeth Crumley, Miss Dorothy Shylack, Miss Elma Tolleson, Miss Samuels, Miss Ethel McDermott, Miss Eleanor Hulett and Miss Gladys Kelly.

The preceding afternoon Mrs. C. P. Ainsworth entertained informally in honor of Mrs. Marshall, twenty-five guests having the pleasure of meeting her at tea. The living room, where the hostess and complimented guest received with Mrs. Richard E. Sloan, Mrs. E. J. Bennett, Mrs. Homer King and Miss Ruth Ainsworth, was decorated in roses that were arranged with artistic effect. In the living room the floral adornment was sweet peas.

Mrs. E. T. Collins, who has known Mrs. Marshall for many years and entertained her on previous visits to Phoenix was hostess at a luncheon in her honor on Thursday. The guests included Mrs. W. E. Kinsey, Mrs. Henry E. Ashurst, Mrs. Carl Hayden, Mrs. E. L. Woodward, and Mrs. E. Paul Collins.

The vice president and his wife were among the guests at a smart dinner given at the Ingleside club recently by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Marshall. A lavender and gold color scheme was conceived in an attractive arrangement of Japanese iris. Covers were laid for Vice-president and Mrs. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. George Archer, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Begeer, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morris, Mrs. C. D. Dorris, Mrs. Jessie Benton Evans, Miss Anna Archer and Hugh Marshall.

Mrs. Marshall has the reputation of being one of the most gracious hostesses at the National Capitol and those who attended the luncheon were charmed with her delightful cordiality. She gave the affair at the Ingleside club and for decoration there were brass bowls of deep red roses. Covers were arranged for Mrs. Henry E. Ashurst, Mrs. Carl Hayden, Mrs. E. T. Collins, Mrs. Lewis T. Carpenter, Mrs. W. E. Kinsey, Mrs. S. E. Marshall, Mrs. C. F. Ainsworth, Mrs. E. L. Woodward, Mrs.

J. W. Daniels, Mrs. George Archer, Mrs. Anthony Begeer, Mrs. Jessie Benton Evans, Mrs. Walter T. Smith, Mrs. E. L. Graves, Mrs. W. J. Murphy, Miss Anna Archer and Miss Salee King.

Mrs. I. C. Monahan and Miss Anna Monahan gave a musicale Thursday afternoon at the Woman's Club that was one of the most delightful spring affairs. Pink roses and greenery decorated with pretty effect and the attractiveness was heightened by pink toile intermingled in the floral motifs. A corsage of Cecil Bruner roses and ferns formed the fetching favors. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. George H. N. Lohrs, Mrs. Joseph Cope, Mrs. W. E. Williams, Mrs. J. D. Fulwider and Miss Ella Lohrs, Miss Audrey Lawrence, Miss Lucy Nelson, Miss Emma Lohrs and Miss Edna Bonnell acted as ushers.

The program was by far the best that has been presented at any social event for many a day. Maitland Davies sang two groups of songs and more than pleased. He has a tenor voice of great range and unusual timbre, and has the happy faculty of making excellent selections. His every number was received with enthusiasm. He sang "A Banjo Song" (Sidney Homer), "The Naughty Little Clock" (De Koven) and "The Magnificent" (Romany Bird) (Herman Lohrs) in his first group, giving "Her Rose" (Whitney Combs) for an encore. By special request he sang "Little Boy Blue" (Nevin) and completed the second group with "I Know Two Bright Eyes" (Chetum) and "As In a Rose Jar" (Caldman) and for an encore "At Dawning" (Caldman). Mrs. Arthur Gibbons Hulett was the accompanist.

Katherine Wisner McDougall, who has contributed to the pleasure of more than one affair, gave a delightful reading, "A Good Dinner," by Mary Stuart Cutting. Mrs. McDougall is a pleasing and artistic reader and the dainty humorous selection was followed by "Phyllis and Corydon," Chaire Canon gave the piano numbers and played with exceptional brilliancy and dash. Her technique is truly wonderful. She played "Pastorale et Valse" (Mozart), "Polonaise" (MacDowell), "Nocturne Op. 15, No. 2" (Chopin) and "Scherzo E Flat Minor" (Brahms).

At a recent social affair Miss Agnes Mae Lutz told the interesting news of the engagement of her sister, Miss Lola Lutz, to Edward M. Lutz, clerk of the superior court at Nogales. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Lutz is visiting here at present, will return to Nogales Monday.

Mrs. E. E. Kirkland of Coronado Road, who is giving a series of luncheons this spring, presided over a charming affair Monday. The four tables at which the twenty guests were seated were like in decoration. The centerpiece of each a gracefully arranged cluster of La France roses and the favors were corsage bouquets of Cecil Bruner roses. The place cards were hand-tinted affairs featuring roses. Auction was the afternoon's diversion and the prizes were captured by Mrs.

Richard E. Sloan and Mrs. James S. Griffin. Mrs. Kirkland will be a luncheon hostess again tomorrow.

The Country Club will serve tea every Saturday afternoon during May. The weekly tea and rubber of auction that were delightful events of winter will be conducted a month later than usual owing to the popularity of the feature.

Mrs. E. D. Corwin entertained three tables of hearts recently at the Indian School Club. The auditorium was decorated in a profusion of fragrant sweet peas and roses. Miss Alma Nellis and D. H. Telford were the prize winners.

Complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunbar who left Saturday for Chicago after a pleasant season at Ingleside, Mr. and Mrs. Warren McArthur gave an auction Wednesday evening at their home, 30 West Portland Place. The highest scores were made by Mrs. Robert Peabody and Mr. Dunbar. These were present besides Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Van Swearingen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lescher.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Van Swearingen of 219 East Willetta street were dinner hosts recently, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. Warren McArthur and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunbar.

Fred N. T. Amy gave a luncheon at the San Marcos in Chandler Sunday, entertaining among others Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edwin Fuller, Miss Henrietta Olney, Miss Jane Rider of Tucson, and Justus Gobel.

Mrs. Colt Myers was at home informally Monday at her place on the McDowell Road. Her guests included Mrs. Royal Lescher, Mrs. Robert Wallace Craig, Mrs. John H. Page, Mrs. J. E. Rowlands, Mrs. W. J. Kingsbury, Mrs. Horace Knowles and Miss Henrietta Olney.

Mrs. Donald McQueen of Mesa was hostess at a luncheon yesterday, a number of Phoenix guests motoring to her southside home for a delightful day. In the party from town were Mrs. Jack Rice of San Francisco, Mrs. Sims Ely, Jr., Mrs. J. E. Alkire, Mrs. Herbert Burr Altha, Jr., Miss Selma Goldberg, Miss Mildred Stacy, Miss Harriet Hurley and Miss Mae Hurley.

The D. T. Club met Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Malley of 915 North First street. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Van Leuwen were the substitutes.

Mrs. William G. Hartnuff of North Central avenue entertained informally with auction Monday afternoon. The prizes were won by Mrs. Royal Lescher and Mrs. William G. Lutz.

Miss Ruth Jones gave an informal luncheon Tuesday at her home on North First avenue. The table's centerpiece was of sweet peas and attractive floral cards marked places for Mrs. Orman B. Smart, Mrs. Robert Peabody, Miss Vera Barnard of Los Angeles, Miss Ellen Conway, Miss Kate Wilson and Miss Marion Dorris.

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Stehr of New York, R. S. Masson gave a charmingly appointed dinner at the Country Club Wednesday evening. Asked to meet the complimented guests were Judge and Mrs. Ernest Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Henry George and Harry Tittle.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Humbert were dinner hosts Monday evening at their North First avenue residence in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. George Archer who left Wednesday evening for St. Paul. The table was decorated in a graceful arrangement of Cecil Bruner roses.

Mrs. Arthur Gibbons Hulett of 218 West Roosevelt street entertained the card club of which she is a member at luncheon Tuesday. The house throughout was prettily decorated in sweet peas and greenery. Mrs. James S. Griffin made the highest score at auction, several rubbers being played during the afternoon.

The Junior Guild of the Trinity Pro-Cathedral held an all day meeting Wednesday at the country home of Miss Ora Orme on the Cave Creek Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Hoeye of 531 East Portland street gave an exceedingly pleasurable dance last evening in honor of Mrs. Fred Earle Osborne who leaves shortly for Rialto, California, and her sister Miss Lola Lutz of Nogales, who is in town for the week end. The red and green color scheme used in decoration was beautifully expressed in roses and greenery while bow knots of lilies, intermingled with charming effect. A buffet supper was served at midnight after which dancing was resumed. Thirty guests enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Hoeye's hospitality.

Mrs. Clarence L. Stacy entertained a house party Wednesday at her place on the south side, her guests being Mrs. A. C. Baker, Mrs. John H. Page, Mrs. Leo Goldman and Miss Rose Bell Goldman.

John E. Boyd arrived from California Friday. He is the guest of his sister Mrs. Lyman Bennett of 500 North First avenue.

Mrs. William M. Seabury will leave Monday for Portsmouth, N. H., where she will pass a few weeks with her mother Mrs. Henry Hovey, later

Every Garment Instantly Accessible

THE PADDED HINGED TOP on the wardrobe section of the Hartmann Wardrobe Trunk permits instant access to any garment. You don't have to fumble through the entire contents of your trunk to get what you want.

Any article of clothing may be removed without disturbing the others. Think of the time and annoyance this saves. Better yet, in the hinged top of the wardrobe section is padded. This holds the clothes in a firm but cushioned grip, immovable en route. And remember, this is possible only with a Hartmann. In place of the usual bungling straps and tapes a simple adjustable device compresses the clothes and prevents bulging. Hartmann unbreakable hangers provide for quick and easy packing. Let us show you this and other Hartmann Trunks and you'll understand why Hartmann Trunks are the choice of experienced travelers everywhere.

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Carson were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Parker at their country place on Eastline Road.

MERCY AND JUSTICE

In view of the statements of their purposes and plans which the few but vociferous anarchists in New York make so freely, the prompt conviction of the two young men who lately placed an explosive bomb in St. Patrick's Cathedral must be encouraging to the community. Some sympathy has been expressed for these culprits because of their youth, and because they were trapped by a detective who pretended to be a confederate. But such sympathy is wasted. There is no other way to apprehend such criminals. These men were old enough to know better, and their purpose was murder.

To kill and to kill many, and no matter who so long as they attract attention to their cause and create perpetual fear in the community, is the avowed intention of the whole destructive crew. Anarchy has been on trial, and has been convicted. Some of its most dangerous exponents were in the courtroom daily. They have seen what justice is, what the law can do. The jury saw fit to recommend mercy for the prisoners. But we need a force to make anarchists merciful to the law-abiding men, women, and children of New York.—New York Times.

Trunks Bags & Leather Goods

A Stronger

more durable trunk than the Hartmann Gibraltarized has never been built. The baggage man may throw it, drop it, or misuse it generally, for it is built to withstand a lifetime of such treatment. The construction takes care of that.

Hartmann's Trunks

are not the usual sort, which consist of a kind of dry goods box with a lot of trimmings to hide the weaknesses within. Every edge has a solid reinforcement underneath, into which the veneer panels or sides are dovetailed first, then double nailed, a veritable Gibraltar of strength, ready for a lifetime of service.
